This frisky otter ended up with a slap in the face after making a flirtatious advance towards a female. He must have fancied his chances when he approached his love interest, who had been swimming with her baby balanced on her chest. But he didn't reckon for the female's fighting spirit - she dealt a short, sharp slap to her admirer's face. The unlucky male was also dealt a further blow by the disgruntled baby, who had been caught in the crossfire. The sequence of events was captured on camera by photographer Suzi Eszterhas in Monterey, California.
